Austin Catholic Grad on Her Way to the U.S. Naval Academy!

Graduate Abigail Glynn has built an impressive Crusader career defined by leadership, achievement, and a wide range of academic and extracurricular success. Most recently, she was accepted to the United States Naval Academy, where she will study aerospace engineering.

Her accomplishments reflect both her dedication and the strength of Austin Catholic's curriculum, where talented faculty, small class sizes, and a learning environment tailored to each student's abilities helped prepare her for this next step.

Development, Confidence & Opportunity for Student-Athletes

Austin Catholic golf continues to offer student-athletes meaningful competition, strong mentorship, and opportunities to step up when it matters most – all grounded in Augustinian values and the lifelong friendships formed along the way.

At the Conference Clash tournament on May 11, sophomores James Zalewski and Nathan Stark competed against top conference talent and earned a tie for the top spot under Coach Macko, showcasing composure built through program development, teamwork, and a deep-rooted friendship that started at St. Isaac Jogues.

That same growth was on display again at brother and senior John Zalewski's "Kids on the Go" outing at Cherry Creek Golf Club, where James recorded a rare albatross from 180 yards with a 7-iron – a standout moment in a season defined by development, confidence, and opportunity.
